1. Cialis Summary of Product Characteristics.

CIALIS (TADALAFIL) ABBREVIATED PRESCRIBING INFORMATION

CIALIS is available as 5 and 20 mg film-coated tablets for oral use. Posology Erectile dysfunction in adult men In general, the recommended dose is 10 mg taken prior to anticipated sexual activity and with or without food. In those patients in whom tadalafil 10 mg does not produce an adequate effect, 20 mg might be tried. It may be taken at least 30 minutes prior to sexual activity. The maximum dose frequency is once per day. Tadalafil 10 and 20 mg is intended for use prior to anticipated sexual activity and it is not recommended for continuous daily use. Inpatients who anticipate a frequent use of CIALIS (i.e., at least twice weekly) a once daily regimen with the lowest doses of CIALIS might be considered suitable, based on patient choice and the physician's judgment. In these patients the recommended dose is 5 mg taken once a day at approximately the same time of day. The appropriateness of continued use of the daily regimen should be reassessed periodically. Benign prostatic hyperplasia in adult men The recommended dose is 5 mg, taken at approximately the same time every day with or without food. For adult men being treated for both benign prostatic hyperplasia and erectile dysfunction the recommended dose is also 5 mg taken at approximately the same time every day. Patients who are unable to tolerate tadalafil 5 mg for the treatment of benign prostatic hyperplasia should consider an alternative therapy as the Use in elderly men Dose adjustments are not required in elderly patients. Use in men with impaired renal function Dose adjustments are not required in patients with mild to moderate renal impairment. For patients with severe renal impairment 10 mg is the maximum recommended dose. Once-a-day dosing of tadalafil is not recommended in patients with severe renal impairment. Use in men with impaired hepatic function The recommended dose of CIALIS is 10 mg taken prior to anticipated sexual activity and with or without food. There is limited clinical data on the safety of CIALIS in patients with severe hepatic impairment (Child-Pugh Class C); if prescribed, a careful individual benefit/risk evaluation should be undertaken by the prescribing physician. There are no available data about the administration of doses higher than 10 mg of tadalafil to patients with hepatic impairment. Once-a-day dosing has not been evaluated in patients with hepatic impairment; therefore, if prescribed, a careful individual benefit/risk evaluation should be undertaken by the prescribing physician. Use in men with diabetes Dose adjustments are not required in diabetic patients. Use in children and adolescents: Not recommended. Not indicated for use by women. In clinical trials, Cialis demonstrated improvement in patients' erectile function and the ability to have successful sexual intercourse up to 36 hours following dosing. Contra-indications Known hypersensitivity to any ingredient. Patients using any form of organic nitrates. In men with cardiac disease for whom sexual activity is inadvisable. Physicians should consider the potential cardiac risk of sexual activity in patients with pre-existing cardiovascular disease. Patients with myocardial infarction within the last 90 days, patients with unstable angina or angina occurring during sexual intercourse, patients with New York Heart Association class 2 or greater heart failure in the last 6 months, patients with uncontrolled arrhythmias, hypotension (<50/90mmHg), or uncontrolled hypertension, patients with a stroke within the last 6 months. Warnings and Special Precautions Prior to any treatment for erectile dysfunction, physicians should consider the cardiovascular status of their patients, since there is a degree of cardiac risk associated with sexual activity. Tadalafil has vasodilator properties, resulting in mild and transient decreases in blood pressure. It augments the hypotensive effect of nitrates. Serious cardiovascular events occurred during clinical studies. Although most of the patients in whom these events have been observed had pre-existing cardiovascular risk factors, it is not possible to determine whether these events are related directly to these risk factors, to Cialis, to sexual activity, or to a combination of these or other factors. The use of PDE5 inhibitors is not recommended in patients with a previous episode of nonarteritic anterior ischaemic optic neuropathy (NAION). There is limited clinical data on the safety of tadalafil in patients with severe hepatic insufficiency (Child-Pugh class C); if prescribed, a careful individual benefit risk evaluation should be undertaken by the prescribing physician. Use with caution in patients who have conditions that might predispose them to priapism, or in patients with anatomical deformation of the penis. Cialis should not be administered to patients with hereditary problems of galactose intolerance, the Lapp lactase deficiency, or glucose-galactose malabsorption. In patients who are taking alpha-1blockers, such as doxazosin, concomitant administration of Cialis may lead to symptomatic hypotension in some patients. Therefore, the combination of tadalafil and alpha-blockers is not recommended. Caution should be exercised when prescribing Cialis to patients using potent CYP3A4 inhibitors (ritonavir, saquinavir, ketoconazole, itraconazole, and erythromycin) as increased tadalafil exposure (AUC) has been observed if the drugs are combined. The safety and efficacy of combinations of tadalafil and other treatments for erectile dysfunction have not been studied. Therefore, the use of such combinations is not recommended. Undesirable Effects Clinical trials: Headache and dyspepsia are very common. Back pain, myalgia, nasal congestion, flushing, dizziness are common. Adverse events reported with tadalafil were transient, and generally mild or moderate. For further information see Summary of Product Characteristics. Full Prescribing Information is Available From Eli Lilly and Company Limited, *CIALIS (tadalafil) is a trademark of Lilly.

Welcome Address

Dear Members, Colleagues and Friends,

The European Society for Sexual Medicine together with the European Federation of Sexology, the Turkish Society of Andrology and Turkish Association for Cognitive and Behavioral Psychotherapies give a warm welcome to all congress participants. For the first time in their history, ESSM and EFS have organized their annual/biannual meetings as a joint congress. About two years ago, over a dinner, the two presidents of the ESSM and EFS gave birth to this joint congress through which our dreams and visions came true.

The advancing science of Sexual Medicine is mirrored in the scientific programs of the annual ESSM congresses, and both the country and the venue hosting this event traditionally contribute to the success of this congress. For four millennia, Istanbul as one of the world's largest cities has been a cradle of many civilizations, a melting pot of different cultures and religions while integrating in an admirable and future-oriented way occidental and oriental history and traditions. Features and symbols of sexuality have been present for centuries across Anatolia and witnessed in books, shrines, statues and other cultural relics. We have no doubt that Istanbul, appointed as the cultural capital city of Europe in 2010, and sharing the spirit of old and new European and Asian cultures, will inspire the science of this congress.

We are very proud that we are able to offer you an innovative and attractive scientific program reflecting sexual problems of both sexes and beyond those addressing hot and sometimes controversial topics of sexuality. Many thanks to the chairs of the two scientific committees, Andrea Salonia from ESSM and Salvatore Caruso from EFS for having developed such an ambitious and thoughtful scientific program, considering the latest and most exciting achievements in the field of Sexual Medicine. Finally not only the outstanding scientific program but also every single congress participant with their individual input will contribute to the success of this joint congress and make it an unforgettable and memorable venue for the whole Sexual Medicine community.

The mixture of pioneers and leaders as well as new upstarts in the field of Sexual Medicine longing for recognition, is the secret recipe of the permanent success of the ESSM congresses. In Istanbul, ESSM and EFS will continue with their traditional and successful strategies to share science-led and practice-oriented guidance in state-of-the-art lectures, master-lectures, roundtables, workshops, podium and poster sessions presented and moderated by renowned experts and outstanding specialists in the field. As in the past we will accentuate the educational program in this congress by offering our traditional ABC master course, running in parallel to the scientific program, replenished by theme-oriented workshops jointly offered by ESSM and EFS. By tradition the ESSM and EFS congresses are not only the stage for high level science in Sexual Medicine and Sexology but also provide the opportunity to meet the old and to become acquainted with new friends. We are convinced that the spectacular and historical environment of the ancient city of Istanbul with its multicultural flare will cast a spell over you, your spouses and your friends while feeling the breeze through Bosphorus from Asia. Many thanks for joining us for this exciting congress and hope to enjoy unforgettable days with us in Istanbul.

The prizes will comprise of:

1. A year's personal subscription to F1000Prime – "any award winner is clearly somebody who takes their research seriously and has excelled in their work. In order to harness this enthusiasm, we provide them with their own personal access to F1000Prime recommendations so that they can keep up to date with the top articles in the literature, and help in supplementing ongoing projects."

TRAVEL TO ISTANBUL

Travel to Istanbul/Arrival by plane

Istanbul has two international airports; the larger of them is Istanbul Atatürk. Atatürk as the main airport for all international airlines is located 24 kilometers (15 mi) west of the city center. Sabiha Gökçen International, 45 kilometers (28 mi) is situated southeast of the city center, it opened in 2001 to relieve Atatürk and is dominated by low-cost carriers. The taxi fare from the Atatürk airport to the city center is approx. EUR 30–35. Regular public bus transportation is also available. It costs approx. EUR 10 per person and takes, depending on the airport you start from, approx. 30 – 45 minutes to the city center. Especially during rush hours travelers need to calculate more time to get to the city centre.

General Information

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Istanbul has got 2 metro lines. One from the Atatürk Airport to Aksaray and one from Levent to Taksim. There are 4 tram lines and the most useful one is the one between Zeytinburnu (where you can change for the metro to Atatürk Airport) and Kabatas (near Dolmabahce Palace). It passes many major attractions in the historic center of Old Istanbul like the Blue Mosque, Hagia Sofia and the Topkapi Palace. It passes the bridge over the Golden Horn between the Old and the New Istanbul. From Kabatas there is a new funicular up to Taksim. From Taksim you can take the nostagic tram through the major shopping street of Pera (Beyoglu) and then the old funicular (Tünel) down to the bridge over the Golden Horn. Jetons for single trips are sold right at the stations and cost 2 TL (EUR 0,65).

TAXIS

Flying to Sabiha Gocken Airport (SAW) or to Ataturk Airport (IST), you can use a taxi to everywhere in the city. Taxis are waiting outside the airports and the metered fare is around 120 Turkish Lira (EUR 44,60) from Sabiha Gokcen and 55 TL (EUR 20,50) from Ataturk Airport. The taxis tend to be rather small and with four passengers and four bags it can be a bit of a squeeze. Journey time is about 45 minutes from Sabiha Gokcen and 30 minutes from Ataturk airport. Due to the traffic situation, sometimes the drive can take twice as long as planned. Prices may vary, please ask for price indication before taking a taxi.
Name of the venue: Lütfi Kırdar (ICEC)

DISCOVER THE CITY OF ISTANBUL

Istanbul is the largest city in Turkey, constituting the country's economic, cultural, and historical heart. With a population of 13.9 million, the city forms one of the largest urban agglomerations in Europe and is the second-largest city in the world by population within city limits. Istanbul's vast area of 5,343 square kilometers (2,063 sqm) is coterminous with Istanbul Province, of which the city is the administrative capital. Istanbul is a transcontinental city, straddling the Bosphorus – one of the world's busiest waterways – in northwestern Turkey, between the Sea of Marmara and the Black Sea. Its commercial and historical center lies in Europe, while a third of its population lives in Asia.

Founded on the Sarayburnu promontory around 660 BC as Byzantium, the city now known as Istanbul developed to become one of the most significant cities in history. For nearly sixteen centuries following its reestablishment as Constantinople in 330 AD, it served as the capital of four empires: The Roman Empire (330–395), the Byzantine Empire (395–1204 and 1261–1453), the Latin Empire (1204–1261), and the Ottoman Empire (1453–1922).

Approximately 11.6 million foreign visitors arrived in Istanbul in 2012, two years after it was named a European Capital of Culture, making the city the world's fifth-most-popular tourist destination. The city's biggest draw remains its historic center, partially listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, but its cultural and entertainment hub can be found across the city's natural harbor, the Golden Horn, in the Beyoglu district. Considered a global city, Istanbul is one of the fastest-growing metropolitan economies in the world. It hosts the headquarters of many Turkish companies and media outlets and accounts for more than a quarter of the country's gross domestic product.
